

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An absorbent article that includes a topsheet, a backsheet, a valve, and a connecting which permits the connecting of a pump is described. The valve allows air to be distributed into one or more regions of the article, for example, between a wearer's skin and the article.